

The MESA Standards Alliance is working to develop open standards and specifications to do away with proprietary connectors, facilitating communication between energy storage ...

